VIENNA DOCUMENT (PRIVILEGES AND IMMUNITIES) (JERSEY) LAW 1996

A LAW to provide for the conferring of diplomatic privileges and immunities on persons exercising functions under the Vienna Document

Commencement [see endnotes]

1 Interpretation

- (1) In this Law the “Vienna Document” means the Vienna Document 1994 of the Negotiations on Confidence and Security Building Measures convened in accordance with the relevant provisions of the Concluding Document of the Vienna Meeting of the Conference on Security and Co-operation in Europe.
- (2) Where this Law refers to an enactment, the reference is to that enactment as amended from time to time, and includes a reference to that enactment as extended or applied by or under another enactment, including any other provision of that enactment.
- (3) In paragraph (2) “enactment” includes an enactment of the United Kingdom.

2 Privileges and immunities

- (1) Persons designated by a State other than the United Kingdom as observers, inspectors or evaluators under the Vienna Document shall enjoy, during their mission, the like privileges and immunities as in the United Kingdom are accorded to or in respect of diplomatic agents by the Diplomatic Privileges Act 1964 of the United Kingdom.
- (2) Persons designated by a State other than the United Kingdom as auxiliary personnel for an inspection or evaluation carried out under the Vienna Document and performing administrative and technical services, or domestic services, shall enjoy, during their mission, the like privileges and immunities as in the United Kingdom are accorded to or in respect of members of the administrative and technical staff or, as the case may be, of the service staff of a mission by the Diplomatic Privileges Act 1964 of the United Kingdom.

3 Evidence

If, in any proceedings, any question arises as to whether or not a person is entitled to any privilege or immunity by virtue of this Law, a certificate issued by the Attorney General stating any fact relating to that question shall be conclusive evidence of that fact.

4 Citation

This Law may be cited as the Vienna Document (Privileges and Immunities) (Jersey) Law 1996.
